

THE Mark Twain HOUSE & MUSEUM

The first room you enter when visiting the Mark Twain house is the First Floor Hall. It took Tiffany and the Associated Artists over two months to complete the interior décor with carved wooden details and stenciling on both the walls and ceiling. The stenciling was completed using a tin-based bronze powder, giving it a reflective quality. Today, the woodwork is original while the stenciling was reproduced during the restoration process. Have you ever painted using stencils?

Be sure to share your finished page and tag The Mark Twain House & Museum on Facebook or Instagram.