

THE Mark Twain HOUSE & MUSEUM

The tile seen here is found around the Nursery fireplace. These tiles were installed during the room's restoration in the 1970s. Their pattern is based on half-tile fragments found when the previous post-WWI-era blue-green tiles were removed. The fragments found are believed to have dated to 1881 when Sam and Livy Clemens were having the hearth constructed. Color your own tile!

Be sure to share your finished page and tag The Mark Twain House & Museum on Facebook or Instagram.