

THE Mark Twain HOUSE & MUSEUM

The Mahogany Room in the Mark Twain House was used by guests of the Clemens'. This detail is found on the mahogany bed the Clemens' purchased for the room even before the room itself was constructed. After the Clemens' left Hartford, the bed had multiple owners before being added to the Museum's collection in 1956.

Be sure to share your finished page and tag The Mark Twain House & Museum on Facebook or Instagram.